

Markwell & Sons Funeral Home sponsors Dine with a Doc

Dr. Satar (second from left) spoke at the August Dine with a Doc in Casey.

Several seniors attended Dine with a Doc in August, which was sponsored by Markwell & Sons Funeral Home.

As part of their commitment to serving the Casey community, Markwell & Sons Funeral Home recently sponsored a special event designed to help seniors make more informed choices regarding their healthcare. Held at the Casey Senior Center, August nineteenth's Dine with a Doc program offered invaluable information on the topic of senior eye health.

"Markwell & Sons is proud to have been a fixture in the Casey community for more than eight decades," says funeral home owner Jay Markwell. "By sponsoring a local Dine with a Doc event on the crucial subject of senior eye care, we were able to give back in a small way to the community that has kept us in business for so many years."

A nationwide program, Dine with a Doc aims to extend educational and financial resources to America's seniors. Following a welcome prayer, the more than 35 seniors attending this past Tuesday's event heard a presentation by Dr. Wagih Satar. A board certified ophthalmologist and member of the American Association of Cataract and Refractive Surgery, Dr. Satar provided a well-received forty-five minute presentation and question and answer session about eye issues of special concern to our nation's seniors.

"Eye health is an often overlooked area of senior healthcare," says Mr. Markwell. "We're grateful to have had Dr. Satar here to provide insight into this topic."

Before the presentation, guest enjoyed a complimentary luncheon. During the luncheon, Markwell's own Mrs. Sandi Huelskamp delivered a brief presentation on the subject of funeral pre-planning. Guests received free takeaways such as tote bags, pens and bottled water. Additionally, a drawing was held for special prizes including coffee mugs with McDonald's gift cards provided by Markwell Funeral Homes; a gift card from Dairy Queen provided by Simple Blessings; an insulated tote provided by Sarah Bush Lincoln; and a glass filled with miscellaneous gifts from Heritage Woods.

This event marked the fifth Dine with a Doc sponsored by MFH, and the funeral home plans to sponsor again in December 2014. Senior Education Ministries provided the catering services, while Casey Senior Center supplied paper products and beverages.
